Coach: Mr. Little

The J.V. Golf team's best match was against St. Charles. They had a low score of 176 on their home course. The team also had a good score of 181 against Essexville-Garber. The team had excellent cooperation and practiced hard. The team members were all faithful to their games. According to Coach Little the team did very well this season. He thought that they lost a game that they could have won, but they played to their potential. His favorite part of coaching golf is watching the young golfers progress, and seeing how they improve in their 4 years. Coach Little says that the J.V. program has been quite successful with getting good golfers to the Varsity team.

Mr. Kennelly's Words of Wisdom

Questions by: Michele Duperon
Answers by: Mr. Kennelly

Q: What is the best part of coaching the girls?
A: They listened to me. Their effort was outstanding.

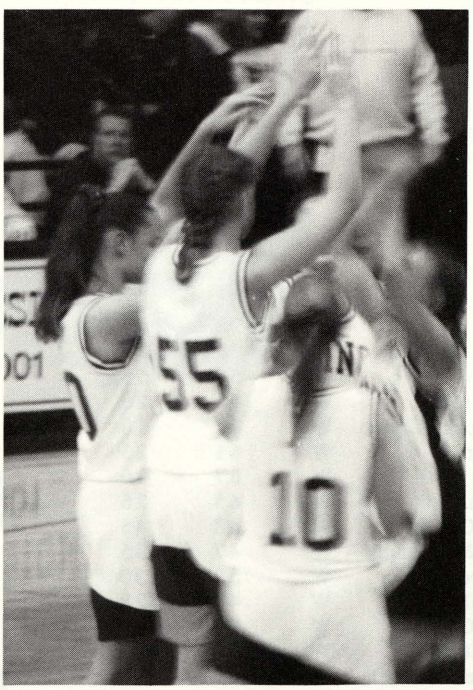
Q: How do you feel the girls played?
A: Great!

Q: Were you disappointed when they didn't place 1st in the finals?
A: Not at all. When the effort is there, you can't be dissatisfied with the results.

Q: What is your most memorable highlight of the year?
A: There were so many — finals at Rose Arena, beating Frankenmuth by 20 points and beating Freeland for the 2nd time.

A few words of wisdom:
The legacy they have left will be with us forever. What an inspiration they were.

The girls at Central Michigan University in the championship game at Rose Arena.



A high-five for a great game played by the state runner-up. Great job girls!

This year's Girls Freshman Basketball team had a good season. They exhibited excellent teamwork and met Ms. Mac's expectations. The game against Midland was the most exciting because they lost in the last seconds, it was a close game. Ms. Mac thinks that next season's team will do fine.

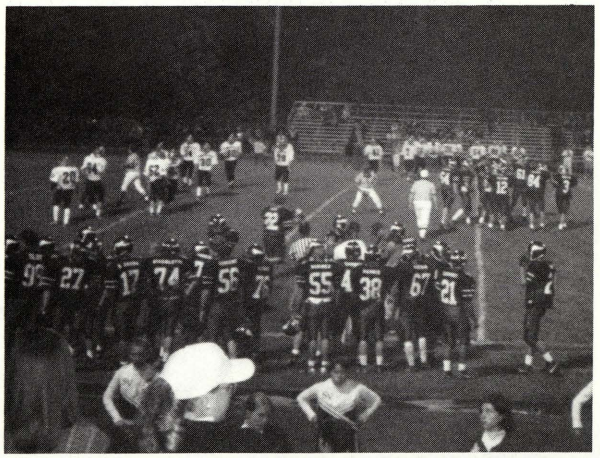
Football



The 1997 Varsity Football team had high expectations going into the season but because of key injuries in crucial games their goals were not realized. The team maintained a positive attitude throughout the season despite these setbacks. The players worked very hard at being a "team". One benefit of the season was the development of two sophomores, Tim Kleinbreil and Ryan Curbey, who vastly improved their skills.

There looks to be high expectations for next year's team. They look to be a tightly knit team, working hard with excellent skills. According to Mr. Koons, "The sky's the limit."

The freshman football team's season was 7-1-1, and they played with enthusiasm and a lot of heart. During the season, the players paid their toll with injuries, but most of them returned to action. The players were very coachable. They did everything as a team and showed great sportsmanship. The team's attitude and hard work made it a successful season.

Varsity Pom Pon Squad

This year's Varsity Pom Pon Squad consisted of 18 girls. The captains were Amanda Stimpson and Lindsey Schneider. Besides sponsoring and decorating for the Homecoming Dance, the girls were very busy all year. With summer practices every morning, Badjerette Camp at CMU, clinics, fundraisers, and games, the squad worked exceedingly well together and had a great time. Certainly, this year was unforgettable with many memories to last a lifetime. "We kick EYE"

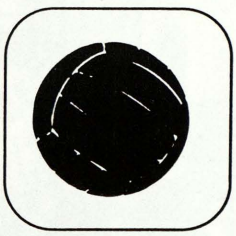
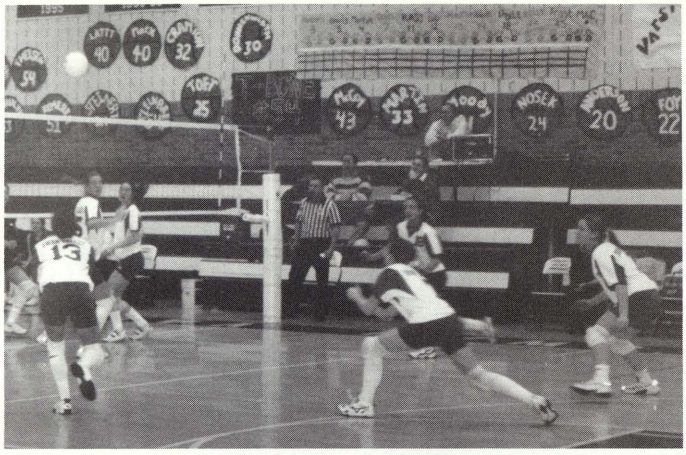
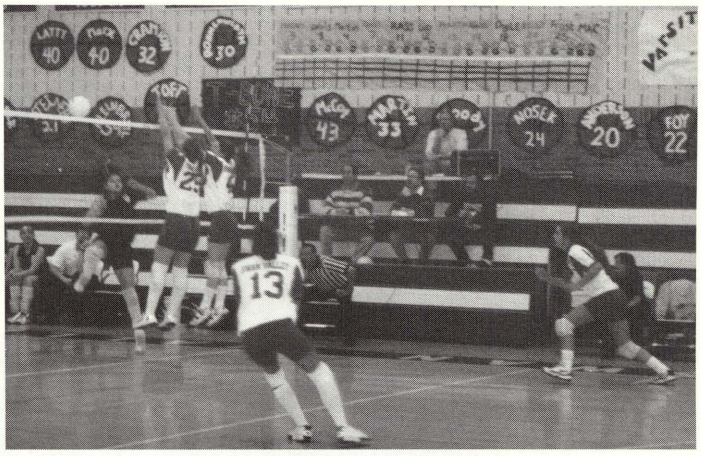
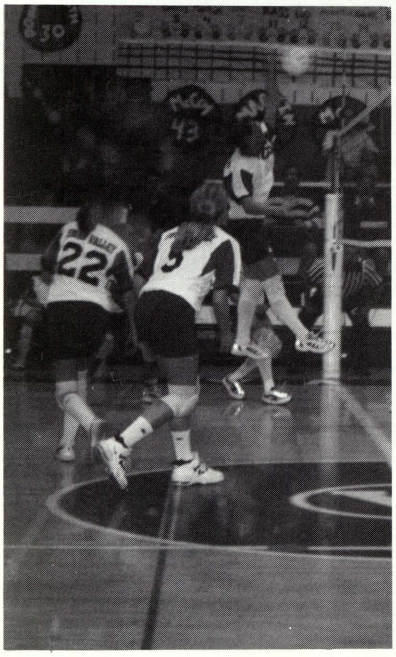
The whole team lines up before the game.



Pull up your knee pads! Everybody is getting ready to play.







This year's team kept the tradition alive by winning the Tri-Valley Conference title and staying tough. This was a rebuilding year for the girls Varsity Volleyball team. They did well after losing six players last year. Every player was committed and worked very hard. Two seniors, five juniors, and four sophomores made up the team. They accomplished a lot. As a team, they won the MLS Tournament and they were the Tri-Valley Conference Tournament Champions. Several individuals were placed on the 1st team All Conference. Next year we hope they keep up the tradition.

Of the many student council activities the most important ones are the many food drives. The student council collects food from the students here at Swan Valley and gives it to the needy families who greatly appreciate the support. The food drives not only help out those families, they also give our students and staff a great feeling of accomplishment.

International Club

Senora Tesauro, Senorita Swanton, and Madame Kowalczyk did a great job with the International Club this year. There were 85 members from Spanish classes and 12 members from French class for a total of 97.

To become a member of the International Club a student must be in a foreign language class and pay a $5.00 membership fee.

The two main events this club has are the annual Christmas Party and the Road Rally. The winners of the Road Rally were Kelly Martin, Dawn Klemish, Katie Kennelly, Krista Abbott, and Megan Howley.

Top Row: (l to r) Tom Lesh, Lindsey LeMay, Adam Miller, Jeff Cottrell. Bottom Row: Mark Gosen, Anne Bringer, Nathon Wilson.

The Broadcasting class, otherwise known as SVTV, gained a lot of ground this year in terms of show production, quality, and continuity as compared with previous years. Core staff Mark Gosen, Tom Lesh, Jeff Cottrell, Anne Bringer, and Lindsey LeMay were joined this year by Sportscasters Adam Miller and Scott Howley, and "Not-So-Staff" Nathon Wilson. New respect was found for the show by teachers who previously banned SVTV. But due to equipment difficulties, various problems arose. The Channel One TV's were removed during Spring Break and SVTV could no longer be aired through the end of the school year.

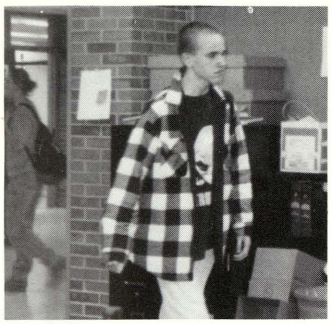
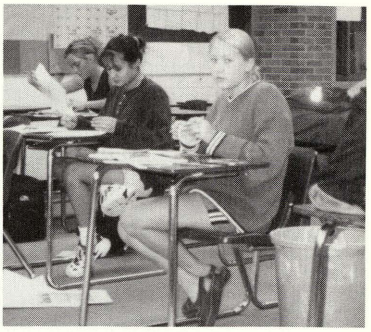
The 1997-98
Yearbook Staff

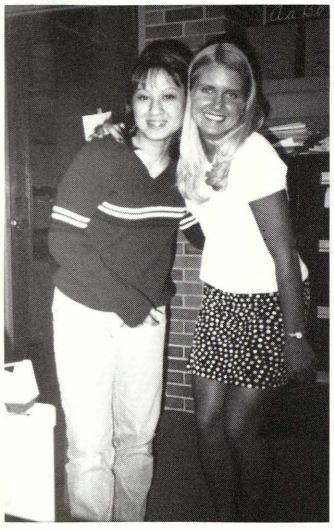
Each year the SVHS yearbook staff is unique and this year was no different. With rare exception, work was done rapidly, efficiently, and accurately. When deadlines drew near, this year's staff almost magically produced them ready to be mailed to the publisher.

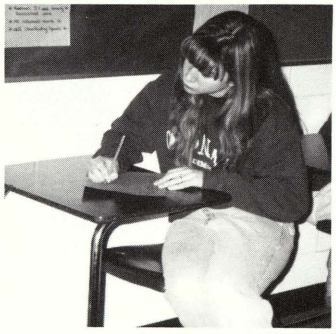
Among the extremely qualified staff members this year, it should be noted here that special grats are extended to the diligent and true that spent extra time out of their summer vacations to get the final pages of the book to the publisher.

We hope you find this book satisfactory. Congratulations to the class of 1998!









Mandi is hard at work filling out her daily sheet.

My Smiling Butterfly

As I have watched you blossom
Through the bad and the good
Through the ugly and the beautiful
My joy has been to watch
As you unfold your wings
And prepare to fly

Your smile says a lot about you
In every picture it has always
Been the same; broad and bright
So is the same of your future.

Like your first steps all over again
In life you will wobble, stumble
and fall
But never give up
Get up brush yourself off
Look back at the footprints
Turn and smile
And know God is at your side, always

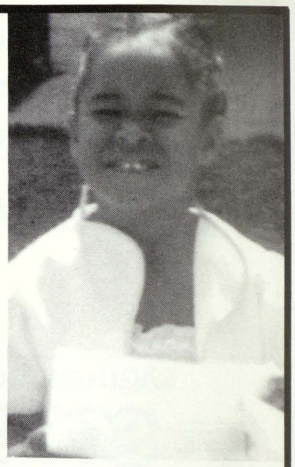
You are one beautifully
awesome butterfly.
You are always making me
proud.

Love, Mom



Days of Life

Lying here beside me
is a great deal of love
it's all wrapped up in time
for the years that I have grown

Its beauty to the artist
a reminder of the days
that were spent to their fullest
and the way it used to be

Once looking at the present
we see the memories shared
of all the new beginnings
set forth each and every day

Now seeing in the future
the hope given to me
I'll never forget the times
and they'll never fade away

Written by: Jenelle Wildey

Jenelle,
May you be blessed with dreams today and always, and success to your future endeavors.
